Speak Out to Support Immigration Action!

Dear Madeline,

Last month, President Obama announced groundbreaking executive action that will improve our broken immigration system. Although they are no substitute for a more permanent legislative fix, the President's proposals will remove the fear of detention and deportation for millions of men, women, and children that live and work in our communities.

But the House of Representatives is planning to vote on legislation and spending plans that would undermine this effort to make our immigration system more just and fair.

Many of our own families lived the immigrant experience in the not-so-distant past, and we have known what it is like to be a stranger in a strange land. President Obama's executive action would take steps to improve the US immigration system while Congress works to come up with a long-term solution reflecting American values like fairness, justice, and success with hard work.

It is up to us to speak out so that immigrants today and going forward have access to the same opportunities we have enjoyed. Urge your lawmakers to oppose legislation that threatens the President's action on immigration!
